

Our congratulations to the business people of Prescott who, while Hope idly dreams of resurrecting a dead war plant, have elected to follow the lead of Nashville, Magnolia, and many another Arkansas city in putting important local money to work to attract new private industry to their community.

Sunday's Arkansas Gazette reported the organization of Prescott Industries, Inc., with an authorized capital of $100,000, for the purpose of constructing new buildings for factories which choose to locate in the Nevada county-seat town. The non-profit group will amortize these structures, expecting to recover for the local investors from the occupying industries in a period of 15 to 20 years.

Around our town folks have been indulging in the dream that the federal treasury will give us a nice, free ride and build another ammunition proving ground — like the one in the 1940's that cost 13½ million dollars, run four years, and then exploded like one of its own shells — running off 7,500 of Hempstead county's population.

Well, the Associated Press ended that dream with a crisp little message from Washington on this page yesterday:

"Officials in the Pentagon said today (Monday) there is no plan to reopen the Southwest Proving Ground at Hope, Ark."

Isn't it about time we quit fiddling and went back to work?

We know what the score is. Nashville put thousands of its own dollars behind the program which brought the Case cutlery and Case shears plants to the Howard county-seat city. Magnolia attracted new industry by pledging thousands in factory buildings. And now Prescott is starting on the same road — seeking private industry which will grow and help build its town, not taxpayer-fed war plants which run local citizens away and then close up leaving us poorer than ever.

Hope knows what the score is because Hope made a couple of brief passes at the same game. We organized Hope Industrial corporation and constructed the building occupied by W. Shunhouse Sons' garment factory. And we set up, at the government's order, Hope Development corporation to promote industrial sites and liquidate the central facilities of the Southwest Proving Ground.

But these were two isolated and unconnected ventures. There was no central, continuing program — even though the people who went along on these two didn't come out badly. Star Publishing company guaranteed $1,000 on the first, which was heavily depreciated, and put $300 into the second, which was profitable — and on the combined $1,300 investment we lost only $100. For a non-profit community venture I don't think that was a bad outcome.

And what I want to know now is:

With this record behind us why are we behaving like a bunch of stumblebums, crying to Washington to give us charity when our small neighbors are talking and acting like men — putting up money instead of coffee-shop talk?

METHODIST LITTLE ROCK CONFERENCE OBSERVING CENTENNIAL — The Little Rock Conference of the Methodist Church, composed of churches in the southern half of the state as outlined in the map above, will observe its 100th anniversary during annual conference June 3-7 at First Methodist Church, Little Rock. Pictured at left is the Methodist church at Washington, 10 miles north of Hope, which now stands on the site of the first conference session held in 1854. The existing building was constructed in the Civil War period, the restoration conforming as nearly as possible to the original structure in which the 1854 session was held. The conference was originally called the Ouachita Conference, being changed in 1866 to Little Rock Conference, reportedly because of the difficulties involved in the spelling of the Indian name, "Ouachita." The centennial celebration will be highlighted with a pageant at 8 p. m. Friday, June 5, at Robinson Auditorium in Little Rock, in which historic scenes of Arkansas Methodism over the past 100 years will be reproduced. The conference since its origin has grown to 235 ministers serving 92,990 church members in 428 churches.

$1.9 Billion for Labor, Welfare Passes House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed and sent to the Senate today a bill appropriating $1,908,706,461 for the Labor and Welfare Department after cutting 10 million dollars from President Eisenhower's request for hospital funds.

The money is to finance the two agencies for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The roll call vote was 395 to 2. The bill allots the money this way: $255,184,000 for the Labor Department, $1,712,248,461 for the Health, Education and Welfare Department and $13,274,000 for affiliated minor agencies.

Passage followed last-minute defeat of a Democratic-led move to appropriate 75 million dollars for federal grants to states for community hospital construction.

The House decided to stick to its appropriation's committee recommendation for a 50 million hospital grant fund instead of the 60 million requested by President Eisenhower.

Democrats tried to boost the hospital fund to 75 million, the amount requested by former President Truman last January. They lost by a roll-call vote of 203 to 197.

Other Atomic Weapons Are Visioned

BY ROBERT BENNYHOFF

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP) — Congressional and military observers today foresaw atomic weapons, bazookas and cannons for naval ships.

The nation's leaders declared themselves highly pleased over the successful firing of the first atomic artillery shell, which exploded 500 feet above Frenchman Flat yesterday.

The half-ton of streamlined steel with an atomic warhead was fired from a 280-millimeter cannon "Amazon Annie," and screamed seven miles across the desert before exploding with the force of 10,000 tons of TNT.

The new A-shell, fired on the proving grounds 65 miles northwest of here, greatly impressed both congressional observers and military leaders who predicted it would revolutionize the fighting of wars.

Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R. N.Y.), chairman of the joint committee on atomic energy and one of the congressional observers, declared, "We have added another major weapon to our atomic stockpile."

"This has been one of the most dramatic demonstrations we have had to date on the enormous advances which have been made in atomic weapons development," Cole said.

Another Snyder Deal Turned Up by Probers

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators today turned up a second instance of reversal of a proposed tax ruling after former Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder intervened — this time with perhaps a million dollars at stake.

The case, dating back to 1948, involved a complex stock transaction by Austin S. Iglehart, president of General Foods Corporation, and others.

Three revenue employees testified they favored a ruling that capital gains taxes must be paid in connection with the deal, a stock merger between General Foods Corporation and Iglehart Brothers, former Indiana and then Delaware corporation.

They said from June to December, 1948, various specialists ruled that the proposed transaction could not be tax-free as asked by Iglehart.

Charles E. Tobin, counsel to the investigating House Ways and Means subcommittee, then read from bureau files showing that on Dec. 21, Snyder called Charles Oliphant, former chief counsel of the tax service, and told him about the case.

Eight days later, on Dec. 29, the files showed, Oliphant called Snyder's office and advised a "favorable ruling is in the mill."

Tobin stated that close to a million dollars in taxes would have been due if the transaction had been held subject to capital gains taxes.

The House group explored yesterday a case in which the revenue bureau's technical experts were overruled and a favorable tax ruling was given a liquor company executive.

Chairman Kean (R-N.J.) said he was convinced Snyder exerted "undue influence" in this case.

ROKs Talk of Complicating Peace Sessions

By LEROY HANSEN

SEOUL, Korea (UP) — President Syngman Rhee indicated today the South Korean government might complicate the stalled truce talks by boycotting the Panmunjom sessions indefinitely.

Rhee called his cabinet to an extraordinary three hour and 45-minute session to discuss "certain measures" in connection with the recessed negotiations.

The boycott apparently started yesterday when the South Korean delegate, Major Gen. Choi Duk Son, failed to show up a Panmunjom.

Choi's explanation for his absence was that he was talking on a telephone at the Allied truce camp at Munsan when the negotiators' helicopter took off for Panmunjom, leaving him stranded.

U.S. Kicks Out Romanian for Blackmail Try

WASHINGTON (UP) — The United States today ordered a Romanian diplomat kicked out for trying to blackmail an American who risked the lives of his two sons by refusing to spy for the Communists.

The State Department told the Romanian legation to arrange "immediate departure" for Christache Zambeti, first secretary of the legation.

Zambeti, who came here in September, 1951, tried to blackmail V. C. Georgescu of New York into spying against America by offering special treatment for his two minor sons under Red control in Rumania.

Georgescu, a naturalized American, rejected Zambeti's proposition and reported it to U. S. authorities.

In so doing, the State Department said, Georgescu risked the lives of his sons. The inference was that the Romanian Communist regime can be expected to retaliate against Georgescu through the boys.

Georgescu, a middle-aged, balding man with a thick accent, told reporters that he and his wife are gambling on world opinion preventing the Reds from harming the boys — 19-year-old Constantin and 14-year-old Peter.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States ordered today the "immediate departure" of a Communist Romanian diplomat. It said he tried to blackmail an American citizen into spying for the Romanian government.

The State department said the diplomat Christache Zambeti, legation first secretary, "seemed to subvert" V. C. Georgescu, a naturalized American citizen of Romanian descent, May 20 in New York.

"The price offered for this collaboration was to be the welfare of Mr. Georgescu's minor sons and their possible restoration to their parents," the department said.

Georgescu's sons, Constantin, 19, and Peter, 14, are still in Rumania and have been refused permission to join their parents in the United States.

U. S. Jets Slam 12 MIGs, Run Total Up to 51

SEOUL (AP) — U. S. Sabre jet pilots who shot down 12 Communist MIGs today have piled up a lopsided score of 51 to 1 in aerial combat with the swift Red MIGs in 28 days this month.

Today's bag boosted the MIG kill since the war began to 704, the Air Force said.

Another 126 MIGs probably were destroyed and 862 damaged. Air Force records credit the deadly Sabre jets with 687 of the 704 kills—with only 55 Sabres lost in aerial combat.

In addition to 51 MIGs shot down this month, Air Force records show five probables and 21 damaged. The record for a single month was set last September when 63 MIGs were destroyed.

Landowners in SPG to Fight Reactivation

Some 35 property owners in the Proving Ground met here last night and made plans to oppose a move in Hope to try to reactivate the old war-time munitions testing ground.

Although a report from the Pentagon in Washington has indicated no plans for reopening the site, the group decided to take no chances and go on record as vigorously opposing any reactivation.

"No diagrams signed by the property owners will be sent to congressmen and senators today, petitions are being circulated in protest, and copies will be sent to proper officials, along with personal letters from property owners."

The group also raised money to take care of any expense which might arise.

Ike Talk Is for Russia and Americans

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower seemed clearly to be talking to the Russians as well as the American people last night in his radio talk explaining the reductions he wants to make in defense spending.

Eisenhower declared the American armed forces he has in mind would be for defense, not aggression. He used the word "defense" four times in the first three paragraphs of his speech. The word ran through the whole speech.

He stressed that the only reason for big armed forces at all is the threat of "planned Communist aggression." And he said this country could win a war with Russia if it had to mobilize.

But his emphasis upon the peaceful and defensive nature of this country's armed forces — at the very moment he spoke of spending less money on them — could not be lost on the Russians. It was almost as if he was reassuring the Russians they had nothing to fear from the U. S., unless they attacked, that the reduced spending was proof of it, and therefore they could start cutting down on their armed forces.

Secretary of Defense Wilson in the last week, as if setting the stage for the Eisenhower talk last night, has hit on the same theme: "The purely defensive nature of the armed forces planned by the Eisenhower administration."

Last week Wilson told a news conference he had intentions of building up armed forces that could hold off an attack until this country had time to mobilize. Yesterday he testified before a Senate appropriations subcommittee which is trying to find out why Wilson wants to cut billions off the money for the Air Force. He said:

"We are not building up a big military machine to attack somebody." But a couple of Democrats who are not enthusiastic about Wilson's idea of more security for less money — Senators Hill of Alabama and Maybank of South Carolina — pressed him hard.

"They wanted to know whether the Air Force he had in mind could attack, if need be, as well as defend," Wilson said this country is building "some fine new bombers" and he thinks this country has more long-range bombers than Russia.

But Wilson conceded his ideas on the kind of Air Force the U. S. needs weren't quite the same as those of the chief of the Air Force, Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg. He said Vandenberg didn't "specifically" agree.

Since Eisenhower frankly said defense program is a "calculated risk" — that is, he hopes it will be able to protect this country adequately if war comes — only time will show his wisdom or lack of it.

During the presidential campaign Eisenhower may have had high hopes of cutting government expenses so much the budget could be balanced and taxes reduced.

He killed those hopes yesterday publicly last night. Acknowledging he can't cut expenses enough to wipe out the deficit this year, he said he wants no tax cuts either, since reduced taxes would mean an even bigger deficit.

Right then he knew he may now run into real trouble within his own party. A number of Republicans are bent on trimming taxes in 1953.

Until now Eisenhower has enjoyed an unopposedly tranquil presidency. It was as if on all sides there was tacit agreement to the gentle with him until he could get his feet on the ground and find out where he stood.

But now that he has stated positively his position, his leadership ability as president will begin to get its test, for he will have to defend his program and fight for it or see it slip to pieces.

So at this point — where he may at last have to step into the ring and slug it out even with members of his own party and can only hope time will prove him right in what he proposes — his honeymoon is over.

Court Reverses Decision
LITTLE ROCK — The Arkansas Supreme Court today reversed the conviction of a Drew County Negro because it said that Negroes had been systematically excluded from juries in the county for many years.

The Negro, Andrew Green, was arrested last September of stealing a cow. He was sentenced to three years imprisonment. Shortly before the trial, Green's lawyers sought to have the regular jury panel set aside because it contained no Negroes.

The trial judge refused. In his decision, the Supreme Court cited a long list of similar rulings which said absence of Negroes from jury panels was ground for reversal.

The court said the fact that the number of Negroes had been placed at the bottom of a special jury panel which would not be called unless the regular panel was exhausted did not cure the discrimination through lack of Negroes on the regular panel.

The case was sent back to Drew County Court for a new trial.

Cells May Be Made Up of Smaller Life

By RENNIE TAYLOR

LOS ANGELES — An experiment indicating that the cells which make up the bodies of humans and animals may be colonies of invisible virus-like organisms was reported today to the American Tuberculosis Association.

This startling theory, which established would upset the long-accepted belief that the cell is the smallest unit of animal life, was presented by Dr. Oscar Kanner, pathologist of the Veterans Administration Hospital at Olean, N. C.

For more than 100 years the cell has been considered the basic, indivisible particle of living matter. Dr. Kanner's findings open the way for speculation that a single cell can be divided into millions or even billions of parts which can live and multiply.

The tests demonstrated directly, Dr. Kanner said, that invisible parts of cells taken from healthy guinea pigs, can be injected into other healthy guinea pigs to produce a virus-like disease.

Other experimenters long ago demonstrated that they could take tiny bits of cells from tuberculous animals, inject them into other animals and produce disease.

These researchers assumed, Dr. Kanner said, that the disease was caused by some miniature form of a TB germ or some fraction of the germ.

Using finely ground parts of guinea pig organs that were free of tuberculosis, Dr. Kanner made a solution which he injected into other healthy guinea pigs and caused not only disease but death.

The length of time it took the disease to develop was evidence that the injected substance contained living organisms. Animals did not get sick until three to six months after injection.

If the substance had been a toxin or poison which sometimes is extracted from cells, the disease would have developed quickly. The long interval between injection and illness thus must have been the time required for the injected organisms to multiply and cause trouble.

Many years ago the experimenters who used tuberculous cell material to produce this same effect concluded that the disease was "virus tuberculosis." Duplication of the disease with healthy cell parts demonstrates, Dr. Kanner reported, that there is no such thing as "virus tuberculosis."

The tests further show, he added, that the invisible particles are not disease organisms so long as they remain in the cells of the animal which produced them. It is only when they are transferred to another environment in another animal that they become dangerous.

A parallel in human disease also has been found, Dr. Kanner said. This is called serum hepatitis, a liver disorder attributed to injections of blood serum from healthy people to other healthy ones as a vaccine against yellow fever.

In the blood stream of the donors this serum particle caused no disease. But in the body of the vaccinated person it produced illness, sometimes serious.

Dr. Kanner's experiments point toward a whole new field of cell theory which may have to consider in a new light the old saying about one's man's meat being another man's poison.

American to Face Murder Charge

SEOUL (AP) — The Air Force today flew a second American to Korea to face charges of murdering a South Korean civilian in 1952, and indicated there will be still another arrest in the mushrooming case.

The second man was identified as Airman 1st Class Thomas L. Kinder, 21, of Route 6, Cleveland, Tenn.

He was arrested in the U. S. and flown to Japan and Korea. Already in jail in Southeast Korea is former Air Force Sgt. Robert W. Toth, 21, a Pittsburgh steelworker who was picked up by military police May 13 and taken to Taegu, Korea.

Both are charged with slaying Bang Soon Kil on Sept. 27, 1952, on an air base in Korea.

The Air Force said a third man, an Air Force officer still serving in Korea, will also be arrested in the case.

Col. Jerome L. Lowenberg, Fifth Air Force judge advocate, said Kinder had admitted shooting the Korean after Toth had pointed out a deserted spot on the air base.

Economy Fight Looms in Congress

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sharp "economy" battle shaped up in Congress today around prospective budget cuts of more than half a billion dollars in veterans' funds requested for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The fact that the largest single cut is contemplated in hospital construction, medical care and administration already has touched off strong reaction in the House traditionally sensitive to veterans' affairs.

An appropriations subcommittee begins closed hearing today on the Veterans Administration budget of $4,295,046,000, some 280 million dollars less than requested by former President Truman.

Organized counter measures may be forthcoming after a meeting of the House Veterans Affairs Committee called for Wednesday by Chairman Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass.).

Mrs. Rogers said she was summoning VA officials and others to "get the facts" before the House Appropriations Committee can bring its recommendations to the floor for action.

Mrs. Rogers' committee already has criticized reduction in medical services in battling for additional funds to meet deficiencies in the VA's medical obligations for the fiscal year ending June 30.

Additional Fire for Cuts in Airforce

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.) dared the Democrats to make a political issue of proposed Air Force money cuts with the assertion today that he believes the country will back President Eisenhower's military judgment.

Millikin, chairman of the Conference of all Republican Senators, said critics of a planned five billion dollar cutback in Air Force appropriations requests are giving a false impression that this would reduce U. S. air strength.

"The President has declared himself in favor of continued strengthening of the Air Force," Millikin said in an interview. "I believe the country will support the judgment of the President as to our proper air strength."

Eisenhower has asked $11,088,000,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1 in a program to build Air Force strength to 120 wings by mid-1955. The budget of former President Truman called for $18,788,000,000 next year and 143 wings by mid-1955.

The conference chairman noted the proposed reduction does not affect money to be spent immediately on building up what Secretary of Defense Wilson has said will be a 30 per cent increase in air strength.

However, Millikin's statement indicated the seriousness with which the GOP legislative command regards mounting Democratic opposition to the five billion dollar cut.

In the overall picture of world defense, GOP sources described the Eisenhower administration as "desperately anxious" for a truce in Korea. An influential Republican reported to be substantially the "India plan," and to vary only slightly from the proposal made by the Communists themselves several weeks ago.

Washington sources said the enemy will be given a chance to accept, reject or modify the latest terms without any effort to subject the Reds to the pressure of world opinion. They said premature disclosure of the terms or official statements making it appear to be an "ultimatum" might ruin any chance for agreement.

Politics in Philippines Boiling

By CALOS ANGELES

MANILA (INS)—Philippine politics rose to the boiling point today as Carlos P. Romulo, former chairman of the United Nations Assembly, set up a third party to fight against President Elpidio Quirino in the forthcoming November election.

Romulo, former Philippine ambassador to the United States, bolted Quirino's Liberal Party when the convention refused his motion for a secret ballot.

Other opponents of Quirino in the Nacionalista Party were attempting to woo Romulo to their side but he was apparently set on running as an independent.

The Nacionalista candidate, Ramon Magsaysay, who broke with Quirino when he resigned as secretary of defense two months ago cut short a campaign trip in the Central Philippines and returned to Manila to talk with Romulo.

Nacionalista sources said Magsaysay hoped to reach what was called — a "working alliance" with Romulo against Quirino.

Romulo's new party will be known as the Progressive liberals.

One of its first recruits was Fernando Lopez, current vice president of the Philippines who announced his resignation from the office.

The Liberal Party renominated Quirino by acclamation just before Romulo and his delegates walked out of the convention when their motion for a secret ballot was rejected.

Four other persons, were injured when two cars, a pickup truck and a busload of soldiers piled up on Highway 22. Two of the injured were Mrs. Thompson's husband, Sgt. Charles Thompson of Camp Chaffee, and the couple's 11-year-old son, Tony.

State Police Sgt. Dwight Gallaway said the driver of the car, C. B. Billingsley, 51, of Greenwood, Miss., would be tried on a charge of involuntary manslaughter at exercises were held at three colleges yesterday.

Sturdy ROKs Fight Off Chinese

By FORREST EDWARDS

SEOUL, (AP) — Sturdy South Korean infantrymen fought off a big three-hour attack early today by almost 200 Chinese who stormed to the crest of an Allied outpost on the Eastern Front.

Standing off the raiders with hand grenades and close range rifle and machinegun fire, the ROKs reported killing or wounding some 60 Red raiders in the battle just southeast of Outpost Texas.

Other Allied troops cut down a dozen smaller Communist probes. U. N. raiding and reconnaissance patrols hit Red lines at 25 points across the 153-mile front.

An Eighth Army spokesman said the Red line is manned by 200,000 troops.

He said intelligence reports showed there are lightly more than one million Red troops spread over North Korea with seven Chinese armies (about 20,000 fighting troops each) and two North Korean corps (about 30,000 each) on the battlefield.

In the air, Allied fighter-bombers destroyed 10 buildings in a troop concentration near Suncheon in West Central Korea and hit Red front-line positions in morning attacks. The Fifth Air Force reported.

Night flying B29 bombers also pounded Communist forward areas and slammed tons of bombs on North Korean roads, destroying 45 supply trucks, a locomotive and 15 boxcars.

May Defer Youths Who Join Guards

By JOHN W. FINNEY

WASHINGTON, (UP) — The Defense Department is considering eliminating draft deferments for teen-agers who join the National Guard, it was disclosed today.

The proposal, made by Dr. John A. Lannan, assistant defense secretary for manpower, has already touched off protests from the National Guard Association and some congressmen, who contend it would cut off the guard's main source of recruits.

At present, youths 17 to 18 1/2 years old are exempt from the draft if they join a National Guard unit. By remaining in the guard for nine years, they can escape active military duty completely, unless the guard unit is called up in case of a national emergency.

The deferment policy, proclaimed by the governors of the individual states, was set up under the universal military training act as an inducement for men to enlist in the National Guard.

The act also provides, however, that the secretary of defense may end the deferment if he decides there are enough men available to fill out the ranks of the National guard without this special inducement.

'Dead Man' Misses His Own Funeral

BOONE, N. C. (UP)—Frank T. Shores, 49, missed his own funeral but was on hand as authorities prepared to reopen his grave today to see who was buried there in an "impossible" mistake.

The dead man was identified as Shores by his mother, his sister, two brothers and even his wife, but they had to admit that here was Frank, they much alive.

"I was positive the man we buried was Frank," said his brother, J. Ballard, Shores, of Abingdon.

"He even had two scars exactly where Frank has scars. Now that I've seen Frank alive it's like seeing a ghost."

While coroner Richard F. Kelley made plans for the exhumation to get another look at the dead man, police were seeking to trace his identity through fingerprints already in their possession.

Sheriff Earl Cook said it was "just a bit mistake all around" but to J. Ballard the mix-up was "almost impossible to believe."

"Frank has odd-shaped ears and this fellow's ears were identical. Frank would have been just about that age. It makes me shudder to think about it."

Cook said "this fellow who looks like Frank" died in jail at Calhoun, Ga., after asking for lodging there and Calhoun police learned he had told a waitress that he had a wife in Maryville, Tenn.

Tides Hamper Areas Flooded Along Coast

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—A flood menacing miles of river-swollen marshes south of here was saving up and down with Gulf of Mexico tides today at the little coastal town of Cameron.

The 2,000 persons living there on a slight ridge at the mouth of the Calcasieu River feel they'll escape the jelly which hit Lake Charles 30 miles upstream.

The U. S. weather bureau here, which correctly called the swamping Lake Charles flood, is not so optimistic.

It has cautioned that water may rise over 400 feet in the streets of Cameron, with the rise now expected sometime tonight. So far the town is dry.

Forecasters based their predictions on what they said was "an awfully big drink of water heading down that way."

The river crest has flattened out over the marshes and may rise at Cameron will be extremely slow, they advised.

While the French Cajun territory of Cameron played a game of watchful waiting, thousands of Lake Charles home owners began cleaning up the flood debris that spoiled their houses.

No. 1 Matrimonial Risk

Dear Miss Dix: For the past six months I've been going with a young man of 22, to whom I have become quite attached. However, I don't know whether it's advisable for me to continue seeing him.

He is now attending college, and after graduation will go on to medical school. He comes from a fine family.

He tries to make it clear that he cares for me, yet he won't come to see me unless his brother, or a friend, provides transportation. He is obstinate and spoiled in many ways, and once he gets an idea into his head, won't concede an inch. In the beginning, I went out of my way to please him, and because I won't continue doing so, he calls me unreasonable.

Spoiled By Mother

Answer: Shere doubts about your friend have already entered your mind, that in itself is sufficient that the bloom has washed off your little romance. He has evidently been thoroughly spoiled by a doting mother, and unless you are inclined to continue the pampering, let him go. I doubt if you, or any other girl, would find much satisfaction in a marriage dominated by an inconsiderate boor. There is no chance that this young man's obvious shortcomings will improve after marriage; they will probably become worse. You're wise to realize that happiness cannot exist without the co-operation of both partners. A boy who has been brought up with the idea that the world owes him service ranks No. 1 on the list of poor matrimonial risks.

Dear Miss Dix: I am going with a very nice young lady, but her family thinks I'm too old for her. I am 35 and she is 18. We get along very well together, and I don't think the difference in age is so important.

Answer: While I often contend that age difference should not be the prime factor in marriage, a difference of 37 years is altogether too much. Do you realize you are old enough to be the girl's grandfather? I hope the young lady's family has enough influence to break this foolish attachment.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a young widow without children, and have sufficient income so I don't have to work. Since I am at home most of the time, the mothers of the neighborhood seem to look upon me as permanent baby sitter. One especially, goes out two or three times a week, brings her children to me, and without even asking if I can take them, departs. Of course, no mention is made of pay. How can I stop this imposition? ELIZABETH Answer: The trouble apparently stems from the fact that you obviously have lots of free time. Why not try a part-time job, or, if that doesn't interest you, take on a volunteer job in a hospital, or with a service organization. Right now the Red Cross is in great need of volunteer workers.

Dear Miss Dix: Although I am 14, my parents refuse to leave me alone at night. Don't you think I should be entitled to a little privacy? I have never given them any reason to distrust me.

Answer: I'm sure there's no question of "trust" involved in your parents' reluctance to leave you alone. It's difficult for youngsters to appreciate the anxieties of their parents, who have so much wider knowledge and experience. Many of their worries might seem foolish, but if they concern the safety of their children, it's better to worry than be sorry. Your parents probably think of many threats to your safety — such as fire, or sudden illness, and so forth — which almost certainly might never occur, but are nevertheless sources of anxiety. You ought to appreciate their concern for you.

Night Baseball Games Become Nightmares

By BEN PHLEGAR

Associated Press Sports Writer
Night games turned into nightmares in the major leagues last night in one of the wildest programs since they first flipped the switch that brought artificial daylight to the big time.

Included in the action were:
1. A modern major league record for consecutive strikeouts.
2. The longest nine inning game in the history of baseball.
3. The season's high in hits for an American League team.
4. A run scored on a "three base walk," plus a balk.

5. One club using 23 players, equaling the American League record.

Dig Max Surkont of the Milwaukee Braves struck out seven Cincinnati batters in a row, waited 31 minutes for a rainstorm to subside, then fanned one more for the modern record. He won the game, the second half of a twilight night doubleheader, 10-3, for his sixth in a row. He hasn't been beaten.

A gathering of 24,443 of the Milwaukee faithful braved six hours of rain and high winds to watch their new pets win both games. Rookie Don Liddle hurled a three hitter to take the opener, 5-1.

The marathon game came at Yankee Stadium, where the Boston Red Sox needed three hours and 32 minutes to whip New York at home for the first time since last August. The score was 14-10, and in running up the margin the Red Sox pounded six New York pitchers for 20 hits, high in the American League this season.

Down by as much as eight runs, the Yankees rallied in the late innings and in the ninth Joe Collins went all out for the ground for free.
He walked, advanced to second and third unopposed and scored on a balk by Ellis Kiner.

The Yankees lost out their first place margin to 2 1/2 games over the Chicago White Sox, who edged St. Louis, 7-5, although the Browns threw 23 men into the fray. This did an American League record for men used.

In the only other American League action the Washington Senators scored five runs in the first inning and downed the Philadelphia Athletics, 6-1.

In the National League the twin Milwaukee triumph gave the Braves a full game lead over the St. Louis Cardinals, who went on an 18-hit rampage against a half dozen Chicago pitchers in pounding out a 14-3 decision. This game and New York's 6-3 verdict over Pittsburgh were played in daylight.
Brooklyn rallied to hand Philadelphia its fifth straight loss, 11-9, at night after a delay of an hour and 21 minutes because of rain.

Cleveland and Detroit in the American League weren't scheduled.

Big Ralph Kiner hit his 300th major league home run at Pittsburgh. The blast produced all three of the Pirates' runs.

Legionnaires to Nashville Tonight at 8

The Hope Legionnaires and the Nashville White Sox will open play in the Southwest Arkansas League tonight at 8 o'clock in a game to be played in the Nashville park.

Manager Marty Filagoma announced that Reeder Huddleston, veteran left handed pitcher for the Legionnaires and Henderson State Teachers, will open on the mound for the Legionnaires. Will Martin of Hope and Southern State will complete the battery.

Milton Massey, veteran baseballer and long time manager of the Nashville White Sox, indicated that his opening hurler would be either Ralph Gregory or Jim Eason.
Both of these pitchers were quite effective against the Legionnaires last season and are reported to be in good shape for the opener.

Following tonight's opener with Nashville the Legionnaires will return home Friday night for opening League play in the Legion park against the Mineral Springs Flyers.

Mobile Drops Travelers by 6 to 4

by MERCER BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Luke Appling, manager of the Memphis Chicks, is an affable, easy going guy as a rule, but a few can take only so much.

Luke took his fill, and then some, last night. With his chance to gain on Birmingham, Southern Association leaders, his Chicks blew a 3-run lead and bowed to New Orleans, 12-10.

As a result, the Barons lengthened their lead to two full games by splitting with Chattanooga, winning the nightcap 7-6 after dropping the opener, 4-3. Nashville edged Atlanta, 3-2, and Mobile dropped Little Rock, 6-4.

Although three of Appling's Chicks — Floyd Fogg, Harry Bright and Paul Lehner — got home runs, they went for naught
when New Orleans' Al Gruenwald slammed one over the fence with the bases loaded in the seventh to win the game.

Adding to Luke's misery, Don Pincott robbed himself of a double in the third by failing to touch first, and Ken Landberger had to leave first base on a fifth because of an injured hand.

Topping it off, Luke suggested — rather pointedly — that perhaps Uncle Andy Mitchell's eyes were telling him in the ninth. Mitchell could see well enough to show Appling the way out.

Rightfielder Bill Kirt and Reliever Pitcher Jim Melton starred in Mobile's victory over Little Rock.

Meridian had defense trouble and while the Millers were trying to plug the leaks, Hot Springs slipped in with three unearned runs in

CHAPTER FOURTEEN
BROWN'S face turned the color of old leather on learning that he had been seen throwing something overboard. I would not have been surprised to see him keel over with a stroke. But just as the silence grew unbearable, he said calmly,
"Very well, then. I threw a revolver overboard."

"Do you mind telling us why you did that, Mr. Brown?" Robert asked.

Brown weighed every word of his answer. He had seen the trap too late, but now he was studying it.

"No. I don't mind. It was my own gun. As I ran out on deck it struck me that I did not want to be found carrying arms."

"Even though the weapon had not been fired?" Robert asked.
"It was an impulse," Brown said stubbly.

Lisa's clear, clipped voice said,
"I don't believe you."

Brown turned to face her as if her voice could make him forget everything else.

"Lisa, Lisa, I implore you—"
"No, Frederick!" It was the first time they had used Christian names with each other, yet they seemed to come easily. "You sacrificed yourself for me once before. I shan't let you do it again. I cannot carry such a weight of obligation. You must let me take care of myself. I am quite capable of it, really. You had no revolver on board. I know that, you see, because you told me before dinner that you would rather like to have one."

"Lisa, you are perverse. Don't you realize that suspicion already seems to you? Don't you see the seriousness of the situation?" It was plain that for the moment he had no thought of anyone else in the room.

"Nothing will ever seem so serious to me again. You of all men should understand that."

"Please, Lisa, stop and think."
"My dear Frederick, you are allowing your emotions to fog that clear mind of yours. This story you are concocting won't stand up. People see through it already.
No one would believe you could be such a fool. Only the truth can help us now. Where did you get the gun that you threw overboard?"

Brown answered like a boy confronted by a loving but stern parent. "I stumbled on it as I ran across the deck."

"You thought I had dropped it?"
"Perhaps."

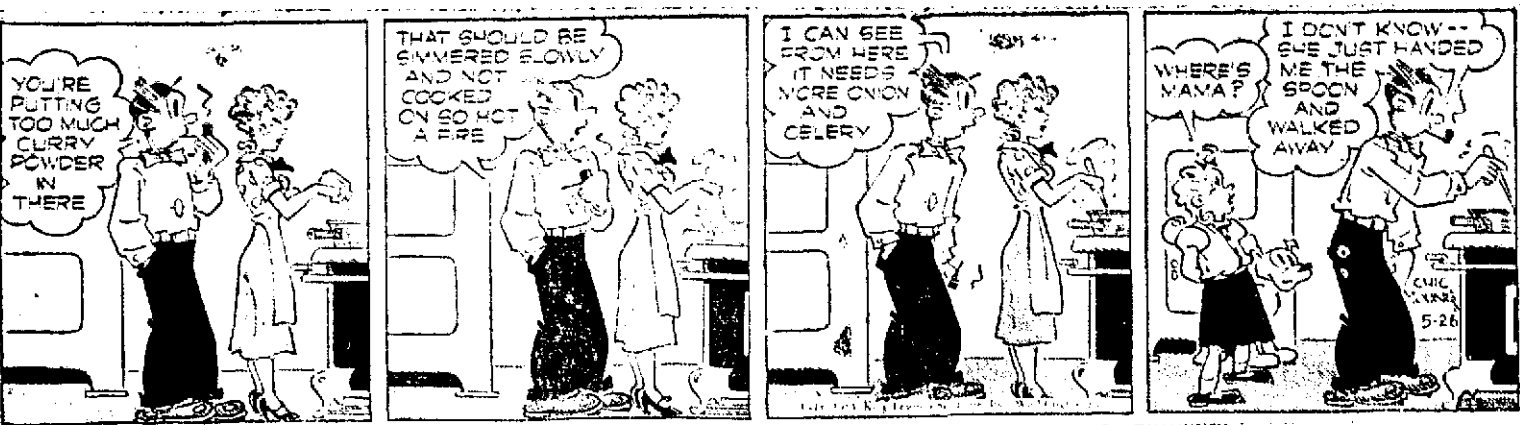

"That interests me very much.
I happen to know that it could not have been Opdyke's."

"How do you know that?"
"Because I threw Opdyke's revolver overboard myself."

After Lisa threw this bombshell, she looked around with her wise old eyes which seemed to have seen everything, and gave a small sigh, not so much of distress, as of weariness.

...to grow in their beer, "It's a happy nonsense."

But how they are getting into the spirit of the thing, it's been a real vitamin shot for the British people, and they are quite excited. Of course, Joe, you know they won't like it. We are proud of our country, out loud, and they are proud of their empire in silence. You really need a slow motion camera to catch a bird opening an Egyptian showing an emotion of any kind.

I guess it's hard to say which is really stirred them up more—the coronation or the strain of three days of perfect weather. They are looking up the history books to see if they ever had three straight days of sunshine before, and the immensity probably will remain until the next coronation.

But Joe, you should be here now, get news for you. Breakfasts are out of season. In the restaurants they ask you if you wouldn't like some fresh strawberries. How do you like that, Joe? Strawberries instead of bananas? You come here 10 years, 15 years, kid, but that looked like you left behind you is still in the menu, 10 years ago.

Remember how we used to wear an arm out in a black sash, the top brass out at Eisenhower Plaza. When General Hill had his headquarters. Well, I went out there in a cab and drove around the square for old times' sake, and the yellow bouffants were freshly painted, and I didn't see a single American uniform, not even one of those old abandoned colonels.

Boy, that gave me an eerie feeling. But if they finally got all those colonels out of town, swivel chairs, and all, I guess the war will really be over and what we are having is peace.

U. S. Jets Slam

damaged another today, boosting their MIG kills this month to 51—just 12 less than the war's one-month record set last September.

Two sharp shooting pilots bagged two MIGs each in savage sky battles high over North Korea.

Maj. James Johnson of Wichita, Kan., the world's first jet ace now having his second combat tour in Korea, got two and boosted his total kills to nine. Maj. Jack E. Mass of Red Bank, N. J., doubled his score with two MIGs.

The war's one-day record in 13 MIGs, one probably and seven damaged on July 4, 1952. Today's log was the highest since May 18, when 12 Red jets were destroyed.

Five MIGs were shot down this morning and seven after noon, the Air Force said.

Night-flying 12th bombers wiped out 30 Communist trucks, destroyed a locomotive, seven box cars and a railroad bridge in pre-dawn strikes, the Air Force said.

12th Superforts smashed a 130-acre troop and supply area north of Hanchung on Korea's east coast and bombed smaller supply dumps in the same area.

Ground fighting dwindled to patchwork clashes as the air war mounted in intensity.

The opening sky duels flared while Satoms were flying over 23 Sabre fighter-bombers which streaked deep into North Korea and blasted a troop concentration area on the West Coast, 10 miles southeast of Namsi. The Air Force said 22 buildings were destroyed.

Other Sabre fighter-bombers slammed 1,000 pound bombs into Red anti-aircraft guns northeast of Kumsong, attacked rail lines and supply areas, the Air Force said.

Allied warships pounded Communist shore batteries and other installations on both coasts, the Navy announced.

JOWITT INACCURACIES

In my researches on the British and American editions of the Earl Jowitt's "Strange Case of Alger Hiss," I have found more than 100 factual errors, a statement which I can at any time document. Some are trivial, some very important. Yet, when one realizes that Earl Jowitt was Lord Chancellor of England, such a number of errors is surprising.

I am taking today a series of errors relating to a $400 loan which was a factor in the Hiss hearings and trials.

Whittaker Chambers bought a car and paid $400 cash. The question is where did he get the money? Four days before Chambers bought the car, that is, on November 19, 1952, Priscilla Hiss, Alger's wife, withdrew $400 from her account in the Hiss National Bank in Washington. In due course, Chambers said that Hiss gave him that $400. If Chambers was correct, it sets a date when Hiss and Chambers were on friendly terms, and that mattered in the trial.

Now comes Earl Jowitt with the contention that the entire $400 loan may be a fabrication by the FBI. These are his words:

"... The F.B.I. in the course of their investigations had obtained access to the books of the bank in February 1949, and at this very time Chambers was in daily association with the F.B.I. If they had revealed to Chambers that Hiss had withdrawn $400 only four days before Chambers purchased his new car, the significance which Mr. Murphy (now Judge Thomas Murphy) sought to attach to the fact that Chambers had not seen Hiss's pass-book seems to me to disappear altogether."

Again, in another place, he repeats this:

"Chambers, for example, had never mentioned the supposed loan of $400 in his evidence before the House Committee or, indeed, until the first trial; and by this time he could have found out from the F.B.I. that Hiss had withdrawn $400 at or about the relevant time, or the F.B.I. had obtained a copy of the account on the 31st January 1949."

The upshot of Jowitt's handling of what he makes very involved and complicated testimony about the $400, and I have six references to it, is, in effect, that the FBI framed that particular piece of evidence to convict Hiss. As Rebecca West put it:

"... This is likely to please the American public just as much as it would please the British public. If a Judge of the American Supreme Court should write a book about an English cause celebre and casually assert that Scotland Yard had provided the chief witness for the Crown with information enabling him to give perjured evidence."

Actually Mrs. Chambers had testified about this matter on November 17, 1948, two and a half months before the FBI had access to the Hiss bank accounts (January 30, 1949) and the FBI went after the bank accounts after Mrs. Chambers had testified. If, as it is claimed, Earl Jowitt made a thorough study of the transcript of the Second Hiss Trial, it is difficult to understand why he did not check the dates.

Pre-direct examination, during the Second Hiss Trial, Mrs. Chambers answered questions thus:

"Q: When you were examined in Baltimore concerning the purchase of the car, did you know then whether or not you got the money from your mother-in-law or from Mr. Chambers? A: No. The money was given to me by Mr. Chambers. I did not know then, nor did I know later when I spoke at the deposition, where the money came from."

"Q: As a matter of fact in the Baltimore deposition you said you did not know where it came from? A: That is right."

That disposed of Jowitt's implication that the money came from Chambers' mother.

Although the Jowitt book has been withdrawn by its American publishers to correct his errors, the British edition is on sale. It is therefore important to note that the learned barrister must have been incorrectly briefed. This was certainly not an FBI frame-up. (Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The House voted $66,500,000 for this purpose, the amount requested by President Eisenhower. For more, President Truman asked for 70 million.

state official can receive more than $5,000 a year. This later was amended in the case of some constitutional officers.

More than 800 persons now on state payrolls earn more than $5,000.

Cherry also told his news conference that most of the reaction has been favorable to a Highway Commission recommendation that rights-of-way for highways be furnished by local interests.

The governor said most of the people who had talked to him about the recommendation approved it. The Commission last week offered to improve certain roads if the rights-of-way were donated by the local governments.

Raps Budget Slash as War Invitation

BY RUSSELL BRINES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Price (D-Ill.) today termed President Eisenhower's military budget "an invitation for an enemy attack."

He called upon Secretary of Defense Wilson to "give reassurance to the American people that defense was the primary objective" in cutting funds for air power.

And influential Senate Democrats, declaring open warfare on administration military policies, aimed at substituting foreign aid cuts for proposed Air Force economies.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) and Sen. Maybank (D-SC) said in separate interviews they will vote with the appropriations committee to cut back Mutual Security Administration (MSA) funds while opposing a reduction in aviation funds.

Price, an armed services committee member, suggested in a speech prepared for the House that "accountants" in the Bureau of the Budget may have overruled Wilson and ignored the Joint Chiefs of Staff in setting the $36,711,288,000 military budget for the year beginning July 1.

The figure is $5,247,128,000 less than former President Truman recommended. But it includes an increase of more than one billion dollars for the Army, largely to finance the Korean War.

UN May Get Final Say on Truce Plan

SEOUL, S. Korea — Authoritative South Korean sources today revealed that the secret new Allied truce plan would give the United Nations General Assembly the final say in determining the fate of war prisoners who refuse to return to their Red homelands.

The informants said the proposal handed the Communists yesterday at Pannumjon was clearly unacceptable to South Korea. Korean government officials called it "nothing but an Allied defeat by the Communists."

The proposal also incorporates some features of previous plans offered by both the Reds and Allies, said the sources, who would not allow use of their names.

The U. N. Command—which reportedly requested the news blackout on Monday's truce session—would not comment on the plan, it even refused to acknowledge the offer was made.

Some observers in Tokyo said the Allied proposal possibly is being used as tempting bait to Red China, which has long wanted to get into the United Nations.

By accepting the plan, they said, it would give Red China a foothold in the General Assembly—through the back door.

Communist Peiping radio for the second straight day treated Monday's truce meeting in a reserved manner—in contrast to previous denunciations of the Allied proposals.

It said the U. N. Command asked for secret talks "for the same of free discussion," but did not say the Allies made a new proposal.

The truce talks were recessed after Monday's session until June 1—apparently at Allied request so Red negotiators can send the plan to Peiping, or even to Moscow.

The South Korean sources said the new plan reverses the Allies' May 13 proposal under which 34,000 badly North Korean prisoners would be released as civilians immediately after an armistice.

Execution Stay Given Arkansan

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—The scheduled execution of two Ft. Bliss soldiers convicted of killing and burning a cab driver has been stayed while an appeal is filed with the Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

Pfc. Marvin Lee Austin, 21, Maraduke, Ark., and Pvt. Raymond Leslie Bottom, 22, Des Moines, Ia., were convicted last Jan. 29 of murder in the death of cab driver Jesus Alvarez Gonzalez on the Ft. Bliss reservation here. Both admitted the shooting and burning the body in the car. They were to die June 3.

The original deadline for filing a statement of facts in the appeal was to have been today. However, U. S. Dist. Atty. Holvey Williams joined Defense Attorneys Hubert Paulk and Jack Nyland in asking for a 45-day delay to permit the court reporter and district clerk more time in preparing the statement.

Court sources here said the appellate court probably would not get to the case until late fall or winter, since the court usually is in recess from June to October.

Faulk and Nyland have said they would file an appeal.

Duke Uses 'Copter, Crowd Thrilled

LONDON (AP)—The Duke of Edinburgh today gave the royal court looking forward to his wife's coronation a bit of a thrill.

He took off in a helicopter from the Buckingham Palace Garden—something never done before—on a flight to Pirbright in Surrey to inspect commonwealth troops taking part in Queen Elizabeth's coronation procession.

The duke, who won his wings only a few weeks ago, let a royal naval pilot handle the machine—a Sikorsky 53.

ARTHRITIS?

I have been wonderfully blessed in being restored to active life after being crippled in nearly every joint in my body and with muscular soreness from head to foot. I had Rheumatoid Arthritis, hands deformed and my ankles were set.

Limited space prohibits telling you more here but if you will write me I will reply at once and tell you how I received this wonderful relief.

Commission Plans New Hi-way Policy

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Highway Director Herbert Eldridge is preparing a new policy which will set out limits for state payment of any damages resulting from highway construction.

He said he is writing it under the direction of Raymond Orr, chairman of the State Highway Commission, for adoption by the Commission at its June 23 meeting.

Generally, Eldridge said, the policy will say that the state will not permit disturbance of a state highway by a drainage district, railroad, pipeline, utility company or a county or city unless arrangements are made in advance to pay for the affected part of the highway.

Also, Eldridge said, it will provide that the state will pay for or repair any railroad, utility line, drainage ditch or similar facility which was in place prior to highway construction, should that facility be disturbed.

Formerly, if the highways were disturbed by improvements by cities or towns, the state would bear cost of repairs.

State Chamber of Commerce, is co-sponsoring the meeting to discuss federal and state responsibility in taxation matters.

front situation, which was a subject of prolonged inquiry by the New York State Crime Commission, and by a congressional committee, as involving "shocking evils."

Testimony before the state commission developed evidence of terror, murder and collusion involving political, labor union and shipping interests.
